

To always be a leading company amongst the US producers, is definitely something not everybody can accomplish, especially in a very competitive market such as the compound.

Once you know that, it is then possible to understand the value of a supplier such as Hoyt, who, year after year, is able to introduce new and competitive products. Incredibly, after all those years, Hoyt is capable to renew its line of products in such an extensive way. More than half of the bows that you will see in the following pages are new and able to offer a unique emotion to all those who, like us, recognize a sure value in a brand.
